Exploring the Barriers and Levers to Agroecology in Europe

Join the team from Agroecology-TRANSECT for hot-off-the-press research and real-life experiences of those transforming our agricultural systems.

We know climate-smart, nature-based farming should be the norm across Europe, for the environment and long-term farm resilience.

So what’s helping this ambition, and what's hindering it?

Project partners at Centre wallon de Recherches agronomiques (CRA-W) in Belgium have taken a deep dive into just this issue, alongside the lived experiences of 3 of 'Innovation Hubs’ (in Spain, the Netherlands and Slovenia). Together, they look at the barriers and levers to the uptake of agroecology across Europe.
